DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in responsive to the paper filed on July 27th, 2006.

2. Claims 1 – 25 and 37 are presented for examination.

Claims 1 – 25 and 37 are rejected.

Claims 26 – 36 and 38 – 39 have been withdrawn as a result of restriction request.

Abstract

3. A brief narrative of the disclosure as a whole in a single paragraph of 150 words or less commencing on a separate sheet following the claims. In an international application which has entered the national stage (37 CFR 1.491(b)), the applicant need not submit an abstract commencing on a separate sheet if an abstract was published with the international application under PCT Article 21. The abstract that appears on the cover page of the pamphlet published by the International Bureau (IB) of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO) is the abstract that will be used by the USPTO. See MPEP § 1893.03(e).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 1 – 25 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention lacks patentable utility. Specifically, claim 1 and 37 drawn to a system with three control levels.

The Examiner submits that Applicant's have not recited any limitations relating to a practical application in the technological arts. (see MPEP 2106)

An invention which is eligible for patenting under 35 U.S.C. § 101 is in the “useful arts” when it is a machine, manufacture, process or composition of matter, which produces a concrete, tangible, and useful result. The fundamental test for patent eligibility is thus to determine whether the claimed invention produces a “useful, concrete and tangible result.” The test for practical application as applied by the examiner involves the determination of the following factors:

(1) “Useful” – The Supreme Court in Diamond v. Diehr requires that the examiner look at the claimed invention as a whole and compare any asserted utility with the claimed invention to determine whether the asserted utility is accomplished.

(2) “Tangible” – Applying In re Warmerdam, 33 F.3d 1354, 31 USPQ2d 1754 (Fed. Cir. 1994), the examiner will determine whether there is simply a mathematical construct claimed, such as a disembodied data structure and method of making it. If so, the claim involves no more than a manipulation of an abstract idea and therefor, is nonstatutory under 35 U.S.C. § 101. In Warmerdam the abstract idea of a data structure became capable of producing a useful result when it was fixed in a tangible medium which enabled its functionality to be realized.

(3) “Concrete” – Another consideration is whether the invention produces a “concrete” result. Usually, this question arises when a result cannot be assured. An appropriate rejection under 35 U.S.C. § 101 should be accompanied by a lack of enablement rejection, because the invention cannot operate as intended without undue experimentation.

The examiner respectfully submits, under current PTO practice, the claimed invention does not recite either a useful, concrete, or tangible result.

- The claimed invention is not useful and tangible. The claims merely recite a control structure, without tangible and useful result outputted to control any component in the real world.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1 – 25 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Vernon L. Chupp (U.S. Patent No. 5,812,419, and referred to as Chupp hereinafter).

Regarding independent claims 1 – 25 and 37,

Chupp teaches,

A first control level [DATA ACQUISITION, Fig. 25], a second control level [CENTRAL PROCESSING MODULE, Fig. 25] and a third control level [MOTION CONTROL, Fig. 25]; the first control level generating a first level command [the analog voltages required for various parameter settings, Col. 45, lines 31 – 34; see further Col. 44 – Col. 49]; the second control level for controlling the movements of the components [motor, valve, flowcell] through a third control level [Fig. 25 – 27, Col. 47, lines 48 – 67]; an user interface [Col. 48,

Fig. 13 A – F comprise a timing diagram illustrating one embodiment of an integrated, automated, hematology/immunology sample processing method of the cell analysis system shown in FIG. 1; FIGS. 63 A – F are tables depicting valves and valve functions as described in Section 13. F;
